

I am opposed to any and all attempts to pre-empt or weaken our Wisconsin do-not-call laws. They have been tremendously successful in allowing individuals a "one-stop shop" to end harassing telemarketing calls, rather than going through the rigamarole of telling each and every telemarketer to leave them alone. If I choose to end my business relationship with an entity like a bank, that should be the end of it. Do not create a rule that would weaken our law.